APPOMATTOX, VIRGINIA

A LIVE WEEKLY NEWSPAPER AT HISTORIC APPOMATTOX COURT HOUSE VIRGINIA

VOLUME 77 NUMBER 4 APPOMATTOX (VA.), 24522, TIMES-VIRGINIAN, JANUARY 22, 1970 SINGLE COPY 10c

Father Parkleaf

By Calvin Robinson

Appomattox will lose a valuable and popular citizen when Al Rector leaves his post Superintendent of the local National Historical Park to become Superintendent of the Shenandoah, National Military Park. When I heard of his transfer I recalled that I had a book in my library on the great Civil War battlefield, and sure enough I found it and have just read it through. The Story of Shiloh, by Wilbur Eisenschiml. In fact, my copy is autographed by the author and was given to me from the private collection of the late Mr. and Mrs. William A. Colegrove, long-time local civic leaders. Civil War buffs disagree that the decisive battle of The War, some saying Gettysburg and Chancellorsville and others Antietam, etc. But a case can be made for the importance of Shiloh, a small and relatively unimportant location east of Memphis, in undistinguished terrain just below the Tennessee River. No general would have selected it for a battlefield; destiny did. Raw, untrained troops on both sides, a succession of mistakes, but out of it came a galaxy of future leaders. For the South: Albert Sidney Johnston, Pierre Gustave Toutant Beauregard; for the North, Grant and Sherman. Lew Wallace was there, as was James A. Garfield, Ambrose Bierce, Robert G. Ingersoll, John Breckinridge and many another future great. If you want history at its fascinating peak, study Shiloh. But one important point. That would be men- tioned by DeLong Rice, the National Park Service Supt. at Shiloh, who died Sept. 24, 1929, after a brief career, as historian and author as well as administrator. Our Supt. Rector will undertake a challenging assignment, carrying on a grand tradition, and we can only hope he will remember Appomattox and count on us here as friends.

A timely clipping from the Virginia Truckers magazine: Women had cars they thought needed protection, so they met one day at an intersection, tooted their horns and made a connection, whereupon a policeman came and made an inspection, whereupon an ambulance came and made a collection, and all that's left is a recollection of two less votes in the next election.

Thanks to Miss Marguerite Mann for sending me two beautiful church publications. I have read them with profit and recommend the study of church literature; items which should be in every home.

Someone said that decisions are made but to be broken. But of now I have made a decision to close the Martha St. Bird Memoria, For years I have fed the squirts and conditions of birds who had quite a congregation. The cats barged in and will be a party to the sudden death of friends. And this hafpened just as my friend, John Ferguson was telling me of the sunflower seed attracted birds to his home area. Ah yes, but we are not in my inner circle. A small lad, I had two cats: Jude and Cat. No. 2. Both fell in the well, I cried for a week but Dixie left us, but hardened when I had to tote water from my neighbor's well until ours was dug out. Decisions. There is a birdbath right now pecking at the picture window, telling me he is hungry. What would you do?

Wrap-up from the note pad: With the travel season coming on we will need to distribute the Appomattox brochures soon. Pat Hudson gave us a thrilling account of the recent AHS-Randall basketball game . . . that the AHS boys team is getting better each game . . . my day was brightened by a long and newsy letter from a old friend I have not seen for thirty years, and why not remember some friend with a long letter to brighten their day . . . and you brighten my day by reading the ramblings from a typewriter and just will not give up.

Double Duty

Volunteer firemen of Appomattox responded to last Thursday evening's call to a meeting and the task of taking down the remainder of the Christmas lights. Only minutes after their truck was on Church Street and strings of lights being dismantled, the alarm went off again, this time a call to Chap where a one-room house burned to the ground. Both the county truck and a tanker answered this call.

"The best we could do was prevent other buildings from burning," reports fireman Harold Carter.

Earlier in the day a truck caught fire at the city-county dump and was heavily damaged.

Oakville Club Sponsors Visit Of Bloodmobile

The Oakville Ruritan Club is sponsoring a visit of the Bloodmobile to Appomattox on Tuesday, Jan. 27. The Bloodmobile will be set up to receive donors from 12 noon until 6 p.m. at Liberty Baptist Church.

Appomattox County needs 152 donors to keep up its yearly quota of 322 pints of blood.

The record so far is 54 pints donated the first visit, 112 for the second with the third visit coming up and a need for 152 men and women to given blood.

The Oakville Ruritan Club is sponsoring the visit of the Bloodmobile. Co-Chairmen from the Junior Woman's Club also promoting the visit are Mrs. Lucy Harvey and Mrs. Betsy Carter.

Residents of counties which maintain their quota of donations can obtain blood transfussions with no charge except for administration. Counties not within the Bloodmobile program DO NOT have access to blood transfusions except upon payment of $25 per pint of blood or more, plus administration costs.

Anyone between the ages of 21 and 66 years may give blood, provided they are found to be in acceptable health. Also, anyone between the ages of 18 and 21 years may give blood with the written consent of parents. Forms for parent's consent may be obtained from Mrs. Lucy Harvey. One additional qualification is that donors must weigh at least 109 pounds. No upper limit on weight has been established.

The Ruritan Club urges each and every person in the county to conseriously consider giving blood so that we will not lose this valuable benefit.

Medal Winner Will Speak To Lions

FORT MEADE, MD. – A West Virginia native, A U. S. Army captain who recently returned from Vietnam, will be the principal speaker at the Appomattox Lions Club tonight (Thursday) at 6:45 at Maude's.

The area includes the Michelin rubber plantation, the largest and most fought - over piece of commercial real estate in Vietnam.

Following one battle, Captain Thompson received the Bronze Star Medal with "V" device for valor after taking over his ambushed company when the commander was killed.

He earned two more awards of the same medal for meritorious service with the 2d Battalion, 22d Infantry and Headquarters, 2d Infantry Brigade.

Council Asked To Recommend Sites

Land sites, water supplies land proper zoning are three prime requirements for new industry said Appomattox mayor H. B. Pack, speaking to Town Council at its regular meeting Monday evening.

Mayor Pack asked councilmen to be thinking of available land of 10 acres or more to offer to industrial prospects. He spoke concerning conversations with VEPCO and N&W industrial planners who met with county and town officials earlier this month.

Pack, who is also chairman of the county planning commission and a member of Central Virginia Planning District Commission, said that the town's water supplies are ample to serve growing needs.

He said also that an industrial committee, immediately available to visiting prospects, is a "must" if the county expects to attract industry.

The mayor also reported that $492 in fines had been levied against 12 individuals in recent traffic violations in the town. One of these was a drunk driving charge. David M. Smith was officer in charge.

A break in a water line on Main Street was being repaired Monday evening as council met.

A citizen band radio, formerly in the county jailer's headquarters is now connected with one of the town's trucks and the town "shop", said town manager, C.S.Booth.

Councilmen offered congratulations to the mayor on becoming a grandfather for the first time. His son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H.B. Pack, III, had a son on Monday. Commented the mayor, "The banks had already declared a holiday. (Robert E. Lee's birthday.)"

Making Plans For Feb. 11 Measles Clinic

These first graders and others have something important to take home in addition to their homework! It's a pamphlet about rubella (German measles) and how VERY IMPORTANT it is that each child, grades one to four, receive measles vaccine on Wednesday, Feb. 11 at the Appomattox Primary School (AES). Conferring with Mrs. Shields, the county school nurse, are Mrs. Jean Hesson, principal (left) and Eugene W. Peyton, director of instruction. If a pregnant woman catches German measles she may give birth to a mentally retarded, seriously handicapped child. Vaccination of young children can prevent this.

New Directories Are Delivered

New telephone directories have been delivered to Appomattox and Pamplin telephone subscribers.

F. L. Whorley, manager for First Colony Telephone Company stated that 3100 copies of the new directory have been issued. According to Whorley, the new directory serves as a yardstick of this area's growth. Only 2650 copies were distributed with Appomattox's last directory issue.

"Upon receipt of the new directories, subscribers should discard their old directories to eliminate the possibility of using numbers that have been changed," Whorley said.

The new directory has more alphabetical listings than last year's directory, while the classified section contains more listings for business and
